My Ambition

The truth of the matter is that I love to code. I plan on working on small applications and projects over the course of the next year and build upon the skills I have acquired from UCLA extension Bootcamp course for full stack developers. For the most up-to-date look into what I am doing, check out my github profile!

Employment

Elephante - Bar Manager - 2018-Present

I am responsible for maintaining and overseeing all elements related to the bar program. This requires on-the-fly thinking, ability to come up with solutions to problems that arise at any point in time, and attitude that fosters relationships and mentors fellow colleagues.
